General Meeting & Legislative Forum

The North Sound Transportation Alliance (NSTA), formerly known as the “Farmhouse Gang,” is a coalition of citizens, elected officials, and agency staff from Washington’s five northwestern-most counties: Whatcom, Skagit, San Juan, Island, and Snohomish. NSTA strives to improve ways for people to travel in the region by pursuing the following objectives:

- Collect travel and system data to identify needs.
- Improve regional connections and sustain and expand services.
- Enhance mobility through sustainable, equitable, and innovative transportation solutions.
- Inform the public about transportation services to enhance awareness of the regional transportation network.

The coalition is managed by the Whatcom Council of Governments. For more information visit: www.wcog.org/nsta
